3. Selected Development Methodology: Agile

Our group has selected the Agile methodology for developing RP-Cloud Labs.

Agile is suitable because the project supports multiple colleges, and requirements may change when new colleges join the platform. The Tool-Session Service is a manageable feature that can be developed and tested in small increments within the available time and moderate budget. Agile allows the team to collect feedback from students, lecturers, and administrators regularly and improve the service based on their needs. It also supports collaboration among group members, continuous testing, and integratio
